Chessie Takes a Train Trip
First Chessie children's book since 1936. In this story Chessie is living in C&O President Harahan's office in Cleveland. One day she stows away on his business car and two orphan children sneak on board. Chessie finds and takes them to Harahan. Targeted at children in the 6-10 year age range. It's "charming" and "heartwarming." Softcover, 40 pgs.

The C&O Historical Society continues our exciting publications project called Chesapeake & Ohio History Series Books. This series consists of a book issued every quarter. Each book treats an aspect of C&O history, equipment, structures, etc., more extensively than we could provide in our C&O magazine. Topics for these books may be continuations or expansions of magazine articles, or entirely new subjects not covered before. Each book is developed based on information contained in our archives following these criteria; on whether the subject is thought to have a broad interest among rail fans and historians; if it deserves extensive treatment because of its importance in C&O history; or it is so extensive a subject that no magazine article could do it justice. 64-96 pages, softbound.

It had chapters named: Raw Materials, Timber, Limestone, Silica, Salt, Clays and Shales, Other Minerals, Processed Materials, Power, Coal, Coke, Natural Gas, Oil, Electricity, Water, People, Nearest to Markets, Government, As a Home, Churches, Libraries, and Play. These illustrations show the cover, the stylized industry map. ONLY AVAILABLE IN DIGITAL FORMAT

C&O Super Power Steam Locomotives Book on CD
Contains all the material in the book by C&O historian Gene Huddleston. Gene sets down a lifetime of study about C&O’s biggest, most powerful, and most efficient locomotives in the 1930-1950 era. An idea data reference for anyone interested in C&O motive power. Gene covers the mechanical background well, but in addition, he also tells us how the engines were used; a valuable first-hand account useful for the historian and modeler. (For computer use). AV-05-082 $19.95

The C&O Railway in WV Photos 1940-1960 Book on CD
120 b&w and 25 color photos! We have had no books about C&O in W. Va. as a whole. This book traces C&O from where it enters W. VA. in Alleghany Tunnel, until it exits the state across the Big Sandy Bridge at Kenova. Many great photos, mainly from C&OHS collection, as well as maps and even building drawings! Something for everyone interested in. AV-05-086 $9.95

C&O in Thurmond, WV Book on CD
This extensive Thurmond collection starts with the 48-page booklet “The Chesapeake & Ohio in Thurmond, WV.” It also includes 59 photographs, ICC documents (valuation field notes from the original 1916 survey). Two magazine ads, a National Park Service pamphlet. Drawings, 92 high-resolution scans of drawings relative to the history of this fascinating region. AV-04-074 $9.95

Chessie System Railroads in WV Book on CD
Covers the C&O, B&O and WM in the Mountain State during the period when the bright yellow locomotives and cars made for one of the most photogenic railroad operations in the United States, placed in the scenic mountains of West Virginia. This CD contains a searchable PDF version of our Chessie System Railroads in West Virginia book (Out of Print), plus twenty additional previously unpublished high resolution photos that are not in the printed version of the book. Valuation Map CDs
Valuation maps are about 24”x56” each. They cover from a mile (for terminals, etc.) to several miles (mainlines), and show all tracks, sidings, locations of railroad owned buildings, road crossings, towers, etc. They are a superb source for historical and operational data and modelers should love them as sources for layout design. Each CD has all these large maps digitized so they will appear on your screen in high resolution up to 400%, making them highly useable. It is fully indexed so you may search by station, milepost or other salient feature. Ideal for historians and modelers alike.

Great C&O/PM/NKP System Map 1940
This map was selected because it is the most detailed one we have seen, showing almost all lines and many stations not normally shown on more condensed maps. It also shows Pere Marquette and even Nickel Plate since it was very much a part of the system in 1940. By 1940, also, most all the modern C&O was in existence. Printed on high quality paper with C&O and PM lines in red and NKP lines in purple. This is a very useable map and very nice looking for framing in a rail room, etc. 24x38 inch SV-14 $19.95

The C&O Railway Heritage Center Interpretive Panels CD
This CD gives the historical knowledge of when, how, and why the railroad was built, the struggles that were endured, and triumphs that were celebrated as the railroad was constructed from Virginia’s Tidewater Region across the mountainous terrain of West Virginia to reach the Ohio River Valley. This CD contains 60 high resolution PDF files of the interpretive panels as presented inside the museum. The PDF format allows the user to search by keyword so a particular topic may be found quickly. AV-14-161 $14.95

1881 & 1869-1874 Maps of Iron Furnaces & Holdings, Alleghany Co CD
Put the CD in your computer and zoom in for a great viewing! AV-14-166 $9.95

C&O Historical Magazine Collection DVD
Here is the complete collection of C&O Historical Society magazines, from the first newsletter of January, 1969 to the Holiday, 2016 issue. Forty-seven years of monthly magazines in high resolution PDF format. The PDFs are searchable, so they are an excellent tool for research. ATTENTION! If you have purchased a prior version, use the Upgrade option to bring your Digital Collection up to date for AV-08-102 $49.95 and AV-08-102 (Update) $15.95

C&O Annual Reports 1910-1945 CD
These reports are a treasure of information for historians & anyone interested in the progress and development of the C&O. There are detailed sections about what major yards, signal systems, piers, structures, tracks, branches, new lines, etc., were built in that particular year. They can provide some great time-lines. They list the type of locomotives, and rolling stock the railway had, usually by type (for example: in passenger cars: express, postal, mail & express, combination, coaches, parlor cars, company, etc.). The same applies for freight cars. The period of the annual reports on this CD is 1910-1945. AV-14-160 $24.95

Tracks Magazine: 1944-1958 DVD
The C&O Historical Society has compiled a complete edition of C&O's own magazine: Tracks. This magazine was produced during the years 1944 to 1958 and distributed to employees and public relations groups. It contains a wealth of first hand information and chronicles of the railroad during this period of transition. Many issues include a number of notices of railroad employee and personnel changes that make it a good source for genealogy research. 160 magazine issues in searchable PDF format on a single data disc. AV-10-124 $29.95

Mainline Modeler Magazine Collection DVD

Outline History of Chesapeake & Ohio Railway’s Huntington Shops 1871-1992

C&O’s primary locomotive shops from their conception to modern times. Includes detailed introductory section with plats and maps, followed by articles copied from Railway Age, Railway Mechanical Engineer, and other trade magazines published throughout the history of the shops in the 20th century. Huntington was the principal locomotive repair and rebuilding facility, and was transitioned to diesel maintenance in the mid-1950s. DS-19-361 $10.95

An appendix to the C&O Lexington (Va.) Branch, Vol. 13 of C&O History Series printed in 2016. It is a collage of early bridge profile drawings, later Bridge and Buildings Department documents, and historical and contemporary photographs. DS-17-360 $14.95

Fairbanks Morse Coaling Stations -- 1935 Catalog

Photos and diagrams with descriptions of all their types of coaling stations, cinder conveyors, and sanding facilities. A wealth of original information directly from one of the three major builders of these facilities for American railroads. C&O had many F-M coaling stations. DS-19-366 $10.95
